

CORRUPT COMMUNICATION

EPHESIANS 4:25

25 Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another.

EPHESIANS 4:26

26 Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath:

EPHESIANS 4:27

27 Neither give place to the devil.

EPHESIANS 4:28

28 Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth.

EPHESIANS 4:29

29 Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers.

EPHESIANS 4:30

30 And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption.

EPHESIANS 4:29

29 Let no CORRUPT COMMUNICATION proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of EDIFYING, that it may minister grace unto the hearers.

CORRUPT: sapos {sap-ros'}

corrupted by one and no longer fit for use, of poor quality, unfit for use, worthless

COMMUNICATION: logos {log'-os}

Speech, a word, uttered by a living voice, embodies a conception or idea what is declared, a thought, declaration, a weighty saying, a continuous speaking discourse -- instruction

EDIFYING: oikodome {oy-kod-om-ay'}

(the act of) building, building up; metaph. edifying, edification, the thing built, edifice)

What you put into your mind affects the chemistry of your brain. When you put in positive things, you push the chemistry in a positive direction. When you put in negative things, you push it in a negative direction.

Your brain has billions of neurons (brain cells) and trillions of connections between those neurons. Brain cells are not physically connected directly with each other like the wires in your house or car. The neurons are connected indirectly through special chemicals called neurotransmitters.

When one brain cell talks to another, it sends the message using neurotransmitters. The sending cell releases a tiny packet of chemicals that carries the message to the receiving cell. This scenario repeats itself trillions of times each day. The amount and distribution of the neurotransmitters is critical to the normal functioning of your brain.

Every thought that you think is embedded at some level in the chemistry of your brain. When you say that someone has a positive mind, you infer that their positive thoughts are embedded in the biochemistry of their brain.

The distribution and balance of neurotransmitters in your mind vary with your mood and patterns of thought. One type of brain chemistry is associated with depression and negative thoughts, and a different type is associated with a positive state of mind.

HEBREWS 13:5

5 Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.

I WILL NOT FEAR CANCER

DO YOU FEAR CANCER BOOK

My dear friend, if you have cancer or have a fear of it, remember there is a God-given healing. The fear of anything is often the reason we fall victim to it, whether sickness or something else. The Word of God tells us not to fear or set our minds on such things.

I recently read in LIFE magazine an outstanding article on cancer. The medical doctor told of how people fear cancer over heart-trouble and arthritis, which are far more painful. It was his opinion that the fear of cancer had engulfed the American people to such extent that it contributed to the fact so many people are stricken with it. They indirectly worried themselves to the place where they injured their nervous system and hurt their bodies in other ways.

Surely if a medical doctor can reason that fear is an impelling force behind cancer, then we as Christians should realize all the more that we should NOT FEAR, but praise the Lord for His goodness and mercy and let our minds rest in trust and love upon the good things of God.

Fear and Cancer: The Answer In Itself

From Dr. Laurence Magne

The first thing that flashes through the mind of a recently diagnosed cancer patient is something along the lines of, "I'm going to die now." It's sadly that simple, and it's that simple because that is what the public has been told. The relationship between fear and cancer, however, must be understood more clearly.

The simple fact is that cancer does not have to be a death sentence.

Fear can very easily create the condition we commonly call cancer. The long term effect of chronic fear on the immune system is extremely bleak because the results are extremely damaging. Realistically, mammals all develop cancerous cells throughout their lifetime but they remain unaware of this fact because the immune system recognizes the threat and eliminates it.

Basically, the immune system does its job by becoming aware of a threat and neutralizing it. The relationship between fear and cancer is basically the relationship between fear and the immune system. Chronic fear depresses the immune system and then the immune system is not capable of dealing with the threat. The threat then blossoms and becomes cancer as we know it.

The increased access to information over the last three-quarters of a century has caused the fear level of the public to skyrocket. Many things used to occur on the other side of the world which could have been cause for alarm. Because it took a week or more for news to travel around the world, however, we didn't hear about most of it. Now we have immediate access to detailed information about the smallest problem in a tiny village in Africa.

Fear and cancer are insidious together, because cancer is seen as a fairly random threat. While there are certain factors that we do control, most people view the threat as something that strikes people for reasons we don't understand and can't explain.

Add to this whole mix the fact that cancer is supposedly incurable. This belief, more than any other factor, is responsible for the ravages of cancer in our society. The medical community at large must embrace the fact that cancer is not incurable; it just isn't something that pharmaceutical drugs and hospital visits can cure. As soon as a patient hears that they have cancer, but it's curable and there are steps to follow...we'll see an amazing turn around in the instances of fatal cancer in this world.

Despite all the progress we've made on cancer, a recent Harris poll found that cancer is the most feared disease in the U.S., 41% compared to Alzheimer's 31%. (Only 8% of American are most afraid of the leading cause of death in the U.S., heart disease). That is hardly new. 40 years ago the National Cancer Act of 1971, which declared "War on Cancer" said "...cancer is the disease which is the major health concern of Americans today."

“Cancer” is no longer the automatic death sentence it was once feared to be. From 1990 to 2010 the overall death rate from cancer in the U.S. dropped 22% in men and 14% in women. We have learned an immense amount about cancer, allowing us to treat, or even prevent, some types that used to be fatal. But we have also learned a great deal about the psychology of risk perception and why our fears often don’t match the evidence. We are failing to use that knowledge to protect ourselves from the potential health risks of our innately subjective risk perception system.

It's been in the throat, yes, and they took a tube out and put a plastic tube or something back in it. And you're scared now, afraid that it's turning to cancer. That's giving you a lot of your nervousness. That's the truth; that's THUS SAITH THE LORD. You believe? Don't fear. He Who's standing here now, Who has risen from the dead, and it's His Spirit talking to you. You know something's happened don't you? The cancer worry's over. Your faith healed you, sister.....

25-4.....I just taught this people that God is in them, and if God is in them and they speak to that disease and say, "Be away from me," and don't doubt in their heart; right then that disease has to move, for Christ said so. For it's not them that speaks, it's the Father that dwells in them that's speaking. They're in need so, come out of them in the Name of Jesus Christ.....

Scientists are realizing through research into psychosomatic medicine, how deeply the mind is involved in physical disease. Relaxation, meditation and prayer are no longer looked upon as questionable but of real value in reducing anxiety, by offering a means of attaining helpful and positive states of mind and consciousness.

E-16 Jesus said, "Whatever you ask the Father in My Name, that will I do." Did you ever realize what that means? Do you realize if we go before God in the Name of Jesus, it's just the same as Jesus Himself praying? It isn't me praying any more. If I come in His Name, and He recognizes His Name, and Jesus said, "Whatever you ask the Father in My Name, that I do." And then I go to the Father in Jesus' Name, it isn't me praying anymore; it's Jesus. It's His Spirit praying through me. And then I've got to receive what I ask for, because He said it, and it's God's Own Word. It can't--It can't do nothing else but produce just what it said.
