.....In the Laodicean, or last age, self love, and love for material things will take the place of the true love of God. We need to guard against the power of sin in these last days. So many are getting so hard because they haven't realized the effect of this last day spirit. It is time to draw nigh to God and let him fill our lives with His love, or we will feel the coldness of the last day church, and reject the truth of God which alone is able to help us.

About 40 to 50 percent of married couples in the United States divorce.

Fewer than half (46%) of U.S. kids younger than 18 years of age are living in a home with two married heterosexual parents in their first marriage.

This is a marked change from 1960, when 73% of children fit this description, and 1980, when 61% did, according to a Pew Research Center analysis of recently released American Community Survey (ACS) and Decennial Census data.

In the African American community, 72 percent of Black children are raised in a single parent household.

PEOPLE LIVING TOGETHER

And nearly 75 percent of women ages 30 or younger said they've lived with a partner outside of marriage (known as cohabiting) at some point in their lives.

The trend "reflects the fact that marriage is increasingly becoming optional in adult life now," said Susan Brown, a professor of sociology at Bowling Green State University in Ohio.

58 Did you notice it never said nothing about marriage? Notice, "The sons of God came unto the daughters of man," nothing about marriage. And if you take in the original Greek there, the word meaning, says, I've got it wrote down here somewhere, a "wife." "Taken to them wives," in the 3rd verse, "taken them wives." In the Greek, I looked it up this afternoon, it didn't say, "Take to them wives." It said, "Took to them women," not wives. Now you check it with your--with your... the Emphatic Diaglott, and watch if that isn't true.

59 "Taken unto them women," not wives. They took them just as they were, free lovers, like we have today. Other words, they were lovers in that day just as they are now. They went any way they wanted to, and took any woman that they could.

Living together is considered to be more stressful than being married.

In the United States and in the UK, couples who live together are at a greater risk for divorce than non-cohabiting couples.

Cohabiting couples have a separation rate five times that of married couples and a reconciliation rate that was one-third that of married couples.

Cohabiting couples are more likely to experience infidelity.

Compared to those planning to marry, those cohabiting have an overall poorer relationship quality. They tend to have more fighting and violence and less reported happiness.

Compared to married individuals, those cohabiting have higher levels of depression and substance abuse.

AIR POLLUTION

Nine out of ten people breathe polluted air every day.

In 2019, air pollution is considered by WHO as the greatest environmental risk to health. Microscopic pollutants in the air can penetrate respiratory and circulatory systems, damaging the lungs, heart and brain, killing 7 million people prematurely every year from diseases such as cancer, stroke, heart and lung disease.

Around 90% of these deaths are in low- and middle-income countries, with high volumes of emissions from industry, transport and agriculture, as well as dirty cookstoves and fuels in homes.

The annual State of Global Air Report was published on Tuesday by the Health Effects Institute (HEI) and it found that over 95 percent of the world's population is breathing unhealthy air. Long-term exposure to air pollution contributed to the deaths of 6.1 million people in 2016 with strokes, heart attacks, lung disease and lung cancer causing many of them. Air pollution is now the fourth-highest cause of death worldwide, trailing smoking, high blood pressure and diet, with the majority of deaths recorded in poorer nations.

HIV/AIDS

Nearly a million people every year dying of HIV/AIDS. Since the beginning of the epidemic, more than 70 million people have acquired the infection, and about 35 million people have died. Today, around 37 million worldwide live with HIV.

HUNGER

The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization estimates that about 815 million people of the 7.6 billion people in the world, or one in ten, were suffering from chronic undernourishment in 2016. (Almost all the hungry people, live in developing countries.

ABORTIONS

THERE HAVE BEEN 6,146,712 ABORTIONS SO FAR THIS YEAR FROM JAN 1, 2019

According to WHO, every year in the world there are an estimated 40-50 million abortions. This corresponds to approximately 125,000 abortions per day.

Dr. Brian Clowes, director of education and research at Human Life International, investigated the number of worldwide abortions since 1973. The results were staggering! He estimates that there have been more than 1.72 billion abortions over the last 40 years,

CHILDREN BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK

21 million babies were born out of wedlock in 2016

SUICIDE

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Leading Causes of Death Reports, in 2016:

Suicide was the tenth leading cause of death overall in the United States, claiming the lives of nearly 45,000 people.

Suicide was the second leading cause of death among individuals between the ages of 10 and 34, and the fourth leading cause of death among individuals between the ages of 35 and 54.

There were more than twice as many suicides (44,965) in the United States as there were homicides (19,362).

Over one million people die by suicide worldwide each year.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, suicide is the third leading cause of death in young people between the ages of 10 and 24, resulting in about 4,600 lives lost in the U.S. each year.

Cases have been documented in kids as young as 5 years old.

DEPRESSION

The WHO estimates that more than 300 million people worldwide suffer from depression. It's also the world's leading cause of disability.

ALCOHOL

One in eight American adults is an alcoholic. A new study published in JAMA Psychiatry this month finds that the rate of alcohol use disorder, or what's colloquially known as "alcoholism," rose by a shocking 49 percent in the first decade of the 2000s.

One in eight American adults, or 12.7 percent of the U.S. population, now meets diagnostic criteria for alcohol use disorder, according to the study.

The study's authors characterize the findings as a serious and overlooked public health crisis, noting that alcoholism is a significant driver of mortality from an assortment of ailments: "fetal alcohol spectrum disorders, hypertension, cardiovascular diseases, stroke, liver cirrhosis, several types of cancer and infections, pancreatitis, type 2 diabetes, and various injuries."

Indeed, the study's findings are bolstered by the fact that deaths from a number of these conditions, particularly alcohol-related cirrhosis and hypertension, have risen concurrently over the study period.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates that 88,000 people a year die of alcohol-related causes, more than twice the annual death toll of opiate overdose.

An estimated 88,000 people (approximately 62,000 men and 26,000 women) die from alcohol-related causes annually, making alcohol the third leading preventable cause of death in the United States.

The first is tobacco, and the second is poor diet and physical inactivity.

In 2014, alcohol-impaired driving fatalities accounted for 9,967 deaths (31 percent of overall driving fatalities).

ECONOMIC BURDEN:

In 2010, alcohol misuse cost the United States $249.0 billion.

Three-quarters of the total cost of alcohol misuse is related to binge drinking.

Global Burden:

In 2012, 3.3 million deaths, or 5.9 percent of all global deaths (7.6 percent for men and 4.1 percent for women), were attributable to alcohol consumption.

In 2014, the World Health Organization reported that alcohol contributed to more than 200 diseases and injury-related health conditions, most notably DSM–IV alcohol dependence, liver cirrhosis, cancers, and injuries.

Globally, alcohol misuse was the fifth leading risk factor for premature death and disability in 2010.

Among people between the ages of 15 and 49, it is the first. In the age group 20–39 years, approximately 25 percent of the total deaths are alcohol attributable.

Family Consequences:

More than 10 percent of U.S. children live with a parent with alcohol problems, according to a 2012 study.

One in every five adult Americans resided with a relative who abused alcohol in their adolescence. As a general rule, these people have a greater likelihood of having emotional troubles compared to children who grew up in sober homes.

In general, children of individuals who abuse alcohol are four times more likely to abuse alcohol themselves.

According to one report published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, 92 percent of victims of domestic violence reported that the assailant had used alcohol or other drugs on the day of the assault.

Another study found that of those individuals who attack a partner, 60-70 percent had abused alcohol.

Underage Drinking:

According to the 2015 NSDUH, 33.1 percent of 15-year-olds report that they have had at least 1 drink in their lives.

About 7.7 million people ages 12–19) reported drinking alcohol in the past month (19.8 percent of males and 20.8 percent of females).

Consequences of Underage Alcohol Use:

Research indicates that alcohol use during the teenage years could interfere with normal adolescent brain development and increase the risk of developing AUD. In addition, underage drinking contributes to a range of acute consequences, including injuries, sexual assaults, and even deaths—including those from car crashes.

Alcohol and College Students:

According to the 2015 NSDUH, 58.0 percent of full-time college students ages 18–22 drank alcohol in the past month.

Researchers estimate that each year:

1,825 college students between the ages of 18 and 24 die from alcohol-related unintentional injuries, including motor-vehicle crashes.

696,000 students between the ages of 18 and 24 are assaulted by another student who has been drinking.

97,000 students between the ages of 18 and 24 report experiencing alcohol-related sexual assault or date rape.

Alcohol and the Human Body:

In 2009, alcohol-related liver disease was the primary cause of almost 1 in 3 liver transplants in the United States.³¹

Drinking alcohol increases the risk of cancers of the mouth, esophagus, pharynx, larynx, liver, and breast.

Alcohol poisoning kills six people every day. Of those, 76 percent are adults ages 35-64, and three of every four people killed by alcohol poisoning are men.

Alcohol-impaired driving accounts for more than 30 percent of all driving fatalities each year.

More than 15 million people struggle with an alcohol use disorder in the United States, but less than eight percent of those receive treatment.

More than 65 million Americans report binge drinking in the past month, which is more than 40 percent of the total of current alcohol users.

Teen alcohol use kills 4,700 people each year. That's more than all illegal drugs combined.

Drunk driving costs the United States $199 billion every year.

Kids who start drinking young are seven times more likely to be in an alcohol-related motor vehicle accident.

ALCOHOL AND WOMEN

More than 45 percent of adult women report drinking alcohol in the last month, and 12 percent of these report binge drinking.

Women who drink while pregnant increase the risk of fetal alcohol syndrome, which can cause mental and physical birth defects.

Nearly 60 percent of adult men report drinking in the last month; 23 percent of these report binge drinking five times per month (eight drinks per binge, on average).

Men are nearly twice as likely as women to have been intoxicated behind the wheel or involved in fatal motor vehicle traffic accidents.

Excessive drinking in men increases aggression, raising the risk of physical assault on another person.

Men are more likely than women to commit suicide while under the influence of alcohol.

Excessive alcohol use is a common factor in sexual assault.

Alcohol use increases the risk of cancers of the mouth, throat, esophagus, liver and colon in men.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Facts and Statistics

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) is a serious condition that affects thousands of children each year. This preventable condition can cause delays in development that can affect lifelong learning.

Most OB/GYN doctors recommend complete abstinence from alcohol while pregnant because so little is known about what amount of alcohol crosses the threshold of what is safe for baby.

Alcohol is a Teratogen (monster maker in Greek) a Teratogen is any substance that can cause harm to an unborn fetus. Alcohol is now the most likely Teratogen that a fetus will come in to contact with while in utero in societies where alcohol is a prominent feature of the culture. In the US Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is considered to be one of the most preventable forms of birth defects.

The Statistics

From the Department of Health and Human Services.

40,000 children born each year (it is estimated) have FAS it may be as many as 80,000 with half going undiagnosed.

It is estimated that a child born with FAS will cost $2 million over their lifetime between treatment and disability.

The cost to the nation is about $6 Billion per year. A child with FAS may not develop an IQ beyond 60 which is considered "major retardation" in the US.
